

A kid's imagination

A kid's imagination,
comes in all denominations.
All shapes and sizes,
and circles and lines.
There are even trees made up of nines.
And letters and words,
and all types of birds.
But there can be a dark side...
to a kid's giant thinker.
It can make things good and bad -
inside their face, just all in one place.
Things under their bed, and in their drawers.
And did I mention they can also think of s'mores?
But somewhere in their room...
Maybe with horns,
maybe a broom.
